Yarn Auction

It's that time of the year again! The holidays are done and life returns to normal. Now is the time to go through your stash to make room for all the new goodies you got for the holidays.

The yarn auction is coming and we need your help and your yarn! I will be collecting donations up until the April meeting.

Thank you to everyone who has donated items to the yarn auction so far! Your donations make the auction possible.

Colorful Afghan Time!

CORRECTIONS in the pattern. Can you believe it? I made mistakes writing up what might be the world's shortest pattern!

Corrections are underlined. Directions should read:

First Triangle

Cast on 2 stitches, leaving an 8" tail for assemblers to sew together.

Row 1: K1, kfb (3 stitches)

Row 2: K1, kfb, knit remaining stitches to end of row

Repeat Row 2 until you have 40 stitches.

Time to change color!!!!

Second Triangle

With second color, K1, K2tog (39 stitches), K to end of row Repeat this row until 2 stitches remain. K2tog.

We still have 37 of the 81 squares available. Please jump in and join this colorful project, made of Cascade, a machine-washable wool.

Whoever the wonderful woman was who pointed out my errors, please re-introduce yourself. I send you my deepest thanks.

President's Message

February has arrived! With all the cold, snow, and ice that we would expect here in Rochester. For those of you that are outdoor snow lovers, I hope you'll get the snow that you missed out on last year. For those of us that are fans of knitting by the fire, our time is now! One true benefit of living up in the northern states is that we get to wear our knitwear a lot more often and for a longer time!

Our topic this month is felting. So I thought I'd tell you about some of my hits and misses in this venue of the fiber arts. Some of my more successful items are knitted and fulled bags. I have a huge bag that is good for many things, as long as it's not too heavy. It was as large as a small sleeping bag before it was fulled. I've made at least three lunch bags, based on the Bugga bag design from Ravelry. All very useful, but all different sizes. The best part of a fulled lunch bag is that it insulates your cold (or hot) items very well, and it can be washed when it gets dirty. One of my most recent failures is a pair of felted slipper clogs that I made for my husband. I used the Fiber Trends pattern that I've used successfully before, but made a size larger than I should have. After felting, my husband could have added clown shoes into those slippers. Luckily we have a tall friend, and neighbor, with large feet, and they fit him perfectly! So the lesson here is, if it's a bag, no big deal about the finished size, it will work. Slippers that need to fit a certain person, be careful, read directions, and don't think that the recipient's feet will grow 3 sizes overnight to accommodate the slippers!

Happy Knitting

Library

Brisk traffic with books coming and going. We are happy to see that members are using the library. We would like to remind you of the $2.00 fee for returning books late. This can be avoided by simply getting in touch with us and renewing the books or DVDs. We will be asking for fees due in Feb! Just so you know the overdue fees are used to purchase new books & DVDs; so it is a winwin situation. Thanks for your cooperation.

The list of library books which can be accessed from the RKG website has been updated.

Program News

I would like to thank all of our volunteers who helped to make our night of socks so wonderful. Thank you to Marcia Weinert for her wonderful presentation and organizing the sock show. Thanks to everyone who brought in a sock to showcase. They were all so beautiful. Thanks to Michele Czekala, Patricia Macauley, Marcia Weinert, Pat Regan, Deb Fister, Nina Raqueno, Susan Ackerman, and Nancy Vandivert for running some great workshops. Thank you also to Cindy Proano and Denise Streeter for starting some great sock circles. I have started working on mine already and am so excited to see what the end product will be. I am so thankful for being able to ask our guild members for volunteers and have so many of you offer up your time and talents. This guild just amazes me and it's because of the members. What a great group you all are.

For our next meeting we will be hosting a guest speaker. Her name is Amy Brand and she lives here in Rochester. She is a fiber artist who does outstanding needle point felting. This past December I went to the Hungerford building for one of their Friday open houses and saw some of her work. After buying 2 wonderful pieces of hers I went on to ask her if she would ever consider coming to our guild meeting. Pretty bold of me, but I was in awe of her work and wanted so much to share it with all of you so I thought why not, what do I have to lose? She said yes and has agreed to come and speak with us about different felting techniques. Then she will be doing some needlepoint demonstrations. She is also teaching some classes at Village Yarn and Fiber Shop. See you all in February.

Sock Circles

At the RKG January Sock Night, we introduced "Sock Circles". Sock Circles? No, you don't need to sit in a circle, sing Kum Ba Yah and turn heels in unison. Sock Circles have "trended" on Ravelry as a fun and sociable way to share sock-knitting with friends or strangers (who may become friends). The concept works similarly to "travelling scarves" where a group is formed and each member of the group takes turns working on each object. In a sock circle, the knitting is divvied up at the beginning so that there is one section of knitting for each member of the group. Each member of the circle begins a pair of socks in the same time frame. When they have finished their assigned section, the socks are passed along to the next assigned person; the circle continues until all of the socks are finished and returned to the knitters who began them. The socks "travel" to each member along with instructions on size etc. for the owner, and a Journal to leave notes or messages.

Our RKG Circles each have five members, so five sections and five pair of socks. The "deadline" for each section is the next RKG meeting through May, with the last section to be knit over the summer. January kicked off with each circle member to knit section one. At the February meeting, each member will pass their section-one-done socks along to the next knitter in rotation, and at the same time, receive a pair for which they will now be the section-two-knitter. The Sock Circles will have a reunion at the September meeting to pass the finished socks along to the owners and celebrate all awesome new socks!

More info on joining a Circle and suggested patterns will be posted in the RKG Group on Ravelry, or contact ciproano@gmail.com.

Member Shop Shout Out

Alfred Knitting Studio: Alfred Station is right down the street from Alfred State. The yarn shop has been there a long time and has a huge inventory of a large variety of yarns. They open at Noon Tuesday through Thursday, and 10AM on Friday and Saturday, and offer a 10% discount to guild members. They carry a wide variety of fibers, including alpaca, angora, and angora wool. Down the road from them is East Valley Alpacas, which processes alpaca yarn, felt and roving. They will give tours and explain the entire process. They are open 10-5 Monday through Friday (Saturdays between Thanksgiving and Christmas).

The Yarn Shop of Geneva: I always loved driving through Geneva on our way south. It is a quaint town in the Finger Lakes. Right on Main Street, Geneva sits The Yarn Shop—clearly noted on its bright pink awning. The shop is everything you would imagine from the outside. It is inviting, and is filled with brightly colored yarns and garment samples galore. Kathy, the owner, is friendly, and is eager to help customers. It is definitely worth a stop on your way through Geneva, or as a destination itself.

We are so fortunate to have these shops as member shops. I hope you carve out some time to check the shops out. It is always fun to see different brands and colorways at these shops. Each owner has their own taste and style, and it is represented by the yarns they stock in their stores.

In order for us to continue to enjoy this location, please remember to be mindful of our surroundings. Should you wish to smoke, please remember smoking is only appropriate outside in an area not directly in front of the entrance. Thank you for your consideration.

On the Web

St. Valentine's Day is near—time to knit our hearts out! If you are looking to knit a heart scarf (http://www.knitculture.com/our-blog/heart-scarf-2/), or a heart hat (http://www.jimmybeanswool.com/ freeKnittingPatternRubyRedHeartHat.asp) those patterns are free and here is a collection of all sorts of patterns with hearts knitted in so you can even wear your heart on your sleeve ~ (http://www.squidoo.com/ heartknittingpatterns)

For some heart felt knitting, look into getting involved with "Sticking it to Heart Disease"—knitting to help spread the word about heart health, along with the book Knit Red which contains 30 fabulously red garments and accessories designed and donated by celebrity designers who openly share their personal experiences with Heart Disease and tips on how they stay heart healthy'. Information can be found on the Stitch Red site: http://www.stitchred.com/getInvolved.asp.

But don't stop there. Why not knit a heart ~ anatomically! There is a great free pattern for an anatomical heart from Knitty (http://www.knitty.com/ISSUEwinter08/PATTheart.php) as well as one, not quite as free, on Ravelry http://www.ravelry.com/patterns/library/35-heart-pillow.

If you decide knitting body parts is for you, there are patterns for almost every part out on the web from knitted eyeballs http://www.ravelry.com/patterns/library/gruesome-knitted-eyeballs, to Achilles tendons http://www.ravelry.com/patterns/library/achilles-tendonfor-alex-trebek with everything (and we do mean everything) in between (google 'knitted body parts', you'll be amused and maybe even amazed).

Or, if you just want to look at what others have knit, besides those google images (!) a good place to start is with Ben Cuevas, an interdisciplinary artist ~ his knitted skeleton is remarkable: http://bencuevas.com/2010/10/21/transcending-the-material/.
