A MESSAGE FROM YOUR INTERIM CO-PRESIDENTS

As you know, the COVID incidence rate has jumped in our community. The Board therefore voted to take the prudent approach and return the Guild to online meetings. The specifics are still being planned, and the details for connecting to the meeting will be posted on our social media pages. Past online gatherings have included a fun topic for sharing, and we hope to have a similar format Monday night (Jan. 10).

We are disappointed that circumstances have led us back to online gathering, and we hope that the need will be short-lived. However, we do want to stay connected in the meantime. The Board will continue to evaluate circumstances and share with you plans as they evolve. If you have any questions, concerns, or inspirations, please let us know.

the Rochester Knitting Guild welcomes Kim McBrien Evans

Kim McBrien Evans

The Rochester Knitting Guild is delighted to welcome Kim McBrien Evans for our Spring 2022 Workshops! Curiosity and exploration is the focus of Canadian knitwear designer and indie hand dyer, Kim McBrien Evans. A lifelong love of colour, texture, pattern, and shape prompted Kim to transition from working artist to textile maven. Her knitwear designs are known for their ability to turn an abstract idea into a wearable reality while simultaneously fitting and complimenting a wide range of bodies. She lives and works in the woods of Central Ontario, Canada.

Our 2022 Guild Workshops will feature Kim's amazing classes that explore the tools and techniques to make sweaters that fit every bod—you will learn how to design or adjust patterns to fit YOU just right. The classes progress from learning how to properly measure your body to deep dives into how to make the adjustments that can make all the difference. The Bums & Bellies class will help you learn how to adjust or “hybridize” patterns to adjust when your weight is carried more in front or back. Boob Camp will focus on how, when and what type of darts work for your body, and at Boob Camp 2 you'll learn the best necklines for your bust size, neck length and shoulder shape.

Descriptions of all the workshops are attached to this newsletter along with a registration form are attached to this Newsletter and are available on the Guild website: <https://rochesterknitting.org/special-events/>. All registrations will be done by mail.
